

Turn feedback into a revision plan

Use after writing a practice response. Choose one useful change, check the evidence, and test it in your next attempt.

Task: Academic Task 1 / General Training Task 1 / Task 2

Prompt or source: _____

Date and draft: _____

1 Check the task first

Write the task requirements in your own words. For an essay, identify your answer; for a letter, its purpose and requested points; for a visual, check reported facts.

2 Find evidence for each suggestion

Use the four assessment areas below to locate a specific issue. Task 1 uses Task Achievement; Task 2 uses Task Response. Consult the official descriptors.

Area	Evidence in my draft	Change to try
Task coverage / development
Organization / connections
Vocabulary / precision
Grammar / accuracy

Ask which sentence needs work and why. A longer word is not automatically a better choice. Preserve your intended meaning.

Make one deliberate revision

3 Revise and explain

The one problem I will address: _____

Original paragraph

Revised paragraph

What changed, and how does it help answer the task?

4 Check the feedback itself

- ☐ Can I find the claimed issue in my text?
- ☐ Does the correction preserve my meaning and fit the task?
- ☐ Is the example accurate, relevant and mine to use?
- ☐ Does the revision solve the issue without adding another?

AI feedback can be wrong. If reviewers disagree, compare their evidence and ask a teacher about unresolved issues. A practice estimate is not an official result.

5 Plan the next attempt

Habit to practise: _____ Next date: _____

How I will check it on a fresh prompt: _____
